'Neath Cedars Stately

Home room programs spotlight our personalities.

School days had their lighter moments, too.

Delta Y-Teens "dug in" at their covered-dish dinner.

Bob, like many other boys, had a hard time carrying enough to fill him up.

With the Christmas season came the chorus' traditional choral procession and songs in the main hall before school.

Midst Hills So Bold

In an advertising skit for the Log, Cal demonstrated that sales resistance doesn't pay.

Hey, kids, there's a limit to a car's capacity!

One of our newest, most serious groups is our victorious chess team.

The Junior-Senior Prom, with its blue and white streamers and soft music, was a memorable social event.

ur cheerleaders present a
the and lovely line-up.

on't worry, kids, the Moun-es will come through.

New Leaders

Dr. Ralph D. Horsman, Superintendent

Dr. Ross M. Gill and Mr. C. F. Mellinger look over building plans.

School board members were: (front) Miss Esther Whinnie, Mrs. F. L. Bradfute, Mr. A. C. McMillan, Miss Miriam Headley, Miss Bertha Walp; (back) Dr. Ross M. Gill, Mr. O. C. Hogsett, Mr. E. S. Stanier, Mr. Samuel Schreiner, Mr. Raymond Hecht, Mr. Beckley Smith, Mr. E. H. Buck, Dr. Ralph Horsman, Mr. C. F. Mellinger.

SUPERINTENDENTS AND BOARD

When Dr. L. E. Perry returned to the service after a short but successful year as superintendent, there was a shifting of officials in our school administration, which resulted in former assistant superintendent, Dr. Ralph D. Horsman, taking the head position as superintendent. Dr. Ross M. Gill, then high school principal, was made assistant superintendent in charge of instruction and Mr. Clifton F. Mellinger took over as assistant superintendent in charge of buildings and grounds.

These three men, in conjunction with each other and with the school board of Mt. Lebanon citizens, have worked hard to direct our school system smoothly and efficiently. In addition to the routine duties of administration, their efforts have been directed this year to the preparation and completion of plans for the expansion of our schools, made necessary by the rapid growth of Mt. Lebanon as a community and by the increased school enrollment. These improvements will be possible because of the approval of a bond issue by Mt. Lebanon citizens.

We, the students who enjoy the advantages of our school system, direct a vote of gratitude to our administration for their hard work and sincere interest.

The Advisory Council was composed of the following members: (sitting) Suzanne Divine, Miss Taylor, Mr. Keifer, Miss Ion; (standing) Ed Hackett, Bob Albert, Mr. Bald, Mr. Doak.

Head Our Schools

PRINCIPALS

The inner workings of our high school are controlled by Mr. Joseph C. Keifer, former Junior High School principal, who took his post as principal when Dr. Shaner left to become superintendent of the Brentwood schools. Mr. Keifer has carried on Dr. Shaner's plans for the Advisory Council, which Dr. Shaner organized last fall to advise the principal on questions of school policy. On the council are Mr. Keifer, Miss Ella Ion, vice principal, three faculty members elected by the faculty, and one student from each grade level. This organization, meeting once each month, has discussed such matters as the improvement of our testing schedule, the placing of the juke box in the cafeteria during lunch period, and the handling of the boxing and wrestling tournaments. Proven a success in promoting a democratic relationship between the administration and the student body, the advisory council will become a permanent part of our set-up.

Mr. Keifer, Miss Ion, and their coworkers, Mrs. Ferne W. Horne, our counselor, Miss Ruth Gordon, home and school visitor, and Miss Margaret Taylor, activities sponsor, are to be commended for keeping every phase of our school system running logically, fairly, and efficiently.

Dr. James D. Shaner, former principal
Mr. Joseph C. Keifer, principal, and Miss Ella Ion, vice principal

Mrs. Ferne W. Horne, our counselor

Miss Ruth Gordon, home and school visitor

Our secretaries Mrs. Booth, Mrs. Slater, and Miss McMaster

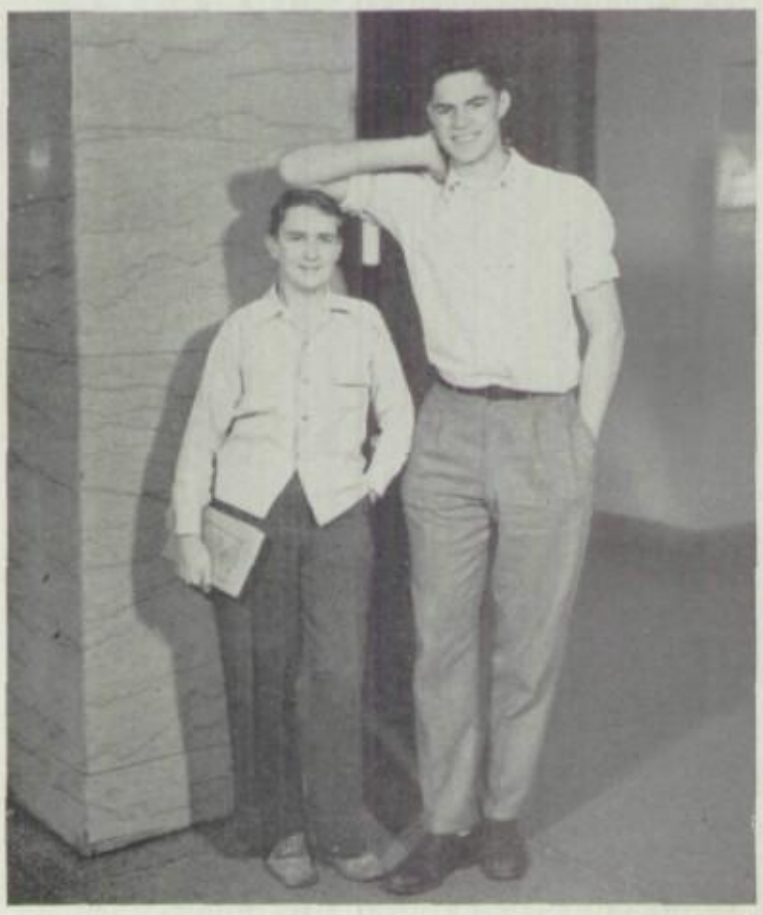
Seniors Had A

The exchanging of name cards has become a senior ritual. It looks as if Herb has more fans than he can handle.



Pete is the boy we look up to, while his classmate Ned is proof that good things come in small packages.

World-shaking scientific discoveries prompted a new "seriousness" in the physics laboratory.

Trunkful of Memories . . .

A pair of popular pairs, the Lewises and the Williamsons. Have you learned to tell them apart yet?

From these, the highest ranking seniors at the end of the fall semester, graduation speakers will be chosen. They are: Bill Davis, John Spindler, Virginia Richard, Pat Specht, and Sue Ann Garber.

Sally and Warren exchange pictures just like the rest. Why must everyone insist, "Mine are awful!"

"If at first you don't succeed, try, try, again" seems to have been written for seniors studying precis.

Gillie just couldn't seem to keep test tubes in one piece.

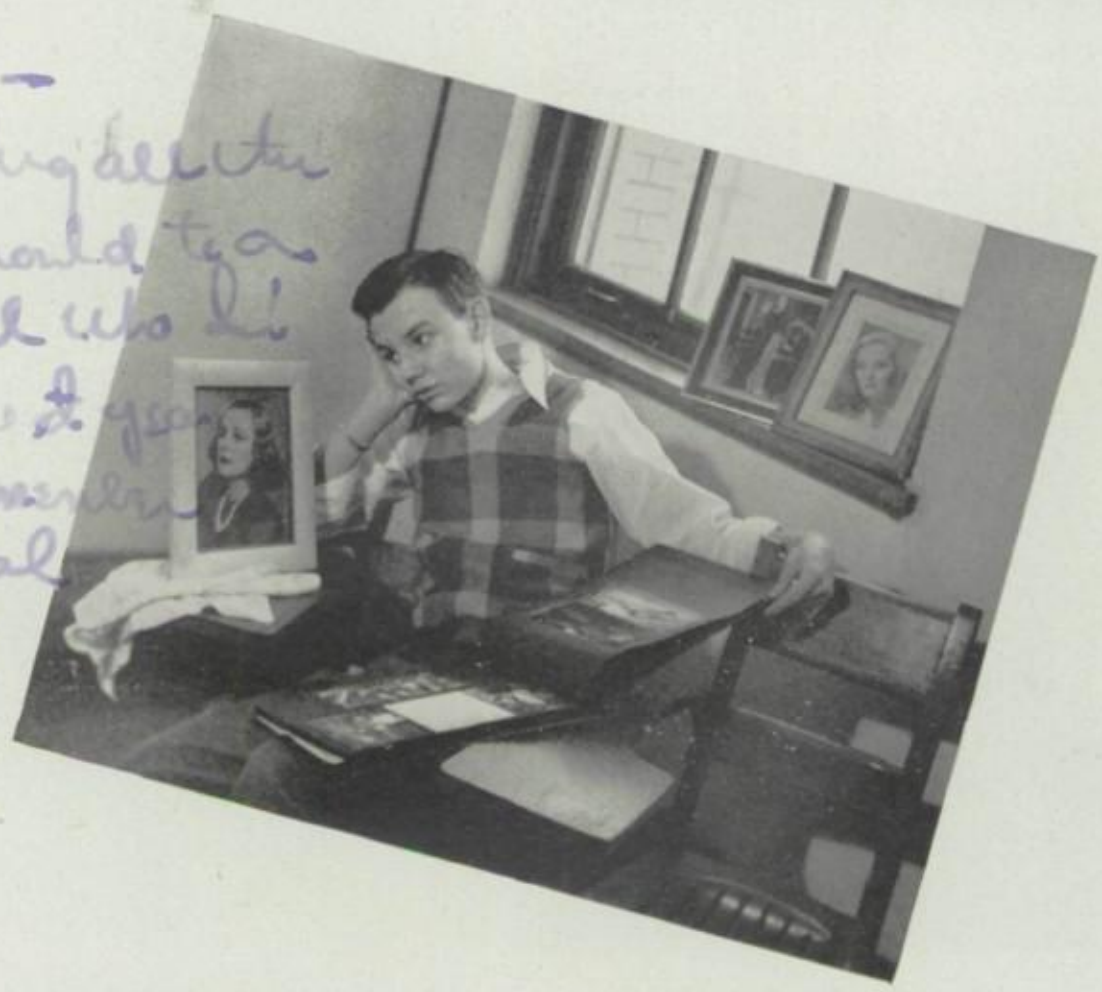
. . . Of Classmate

Martin Jones' concern over the lack of "culture" at his lunch table resulted in "Martin Jones Day" every other Thursday, when the boys had lunch in style.

If instruments weren't handy, these boys made "music" on desk tops, radiators, or books.

The Deltas took an evening off from serious meetings and turned to the lighter task of "feeding face."

And Events



To Betty -
Here's wishing the best luck in the world to a wonderful gal who I'm going to miss next year.
Be good and remember
Tallulah and Cal
'47

Cal kept us supplied with play-by-play reports on the life and loves of Tallulah Bankhead.

What a fine way to start a precedent! The Junior-Senior Prom was a success for all concerned.

The Annual Rings

Watch out, Beth, or you'll get hit.
Eddie's showing off his wit!

Mina's picture is being painted by Cal,
For talent you can't beat that guy and gal.

Curt's teachin' Hoopie to play like the boys,
But even in marbles they have the most poise.

Flo and Bobbie sure get our bids
For being the best all-around kids.

Don and Rose at the church are awaitin',
They're the two kids we like to see datin'.

Pat and Bobbie are sure to succeed,
A little push is all they need.

Wittiest:
Clarke, Clowes

Most Talented:
Schumann, Packer

Most Sophisticated:
Thomas, Findley

Best All-Around Kids:
Albert, Friday

Cutest Couple:
Cox, Boyd

Most Likely To Succeed:
Albert, Harrington

Up the Winners

One Who Gets Around Most:
Kilroy

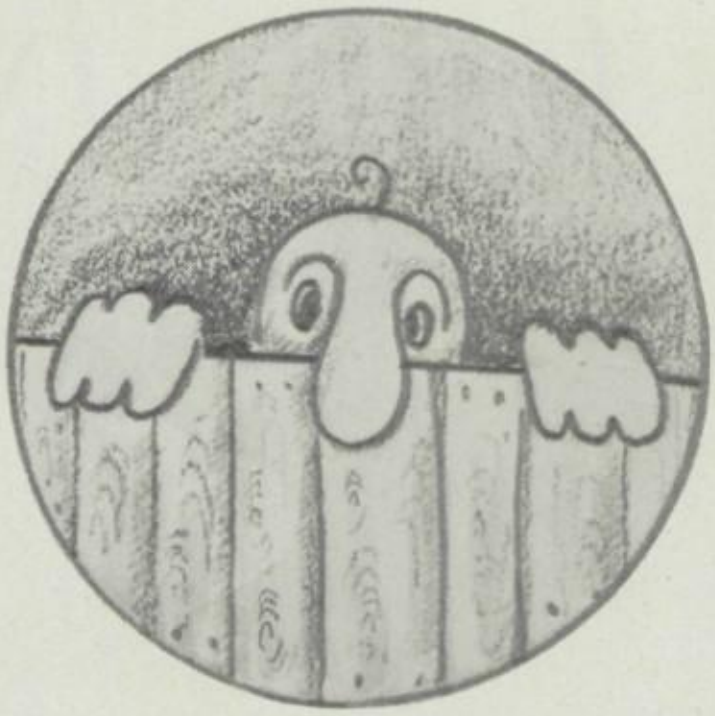
Best Dancers:
Durkin, Stoll

Best Looking:
Thomas, Steliotes

Best Dressed:
Clarke, Vaux

Best Athletes:
Crawford, Cox

Brainiest:
Spindler, Richard



All these kids are on the ball,
But Kilroy really beats 'em all.

Joyce and Jimmie are quite the thing,
At hula, waltz, and especially swing.

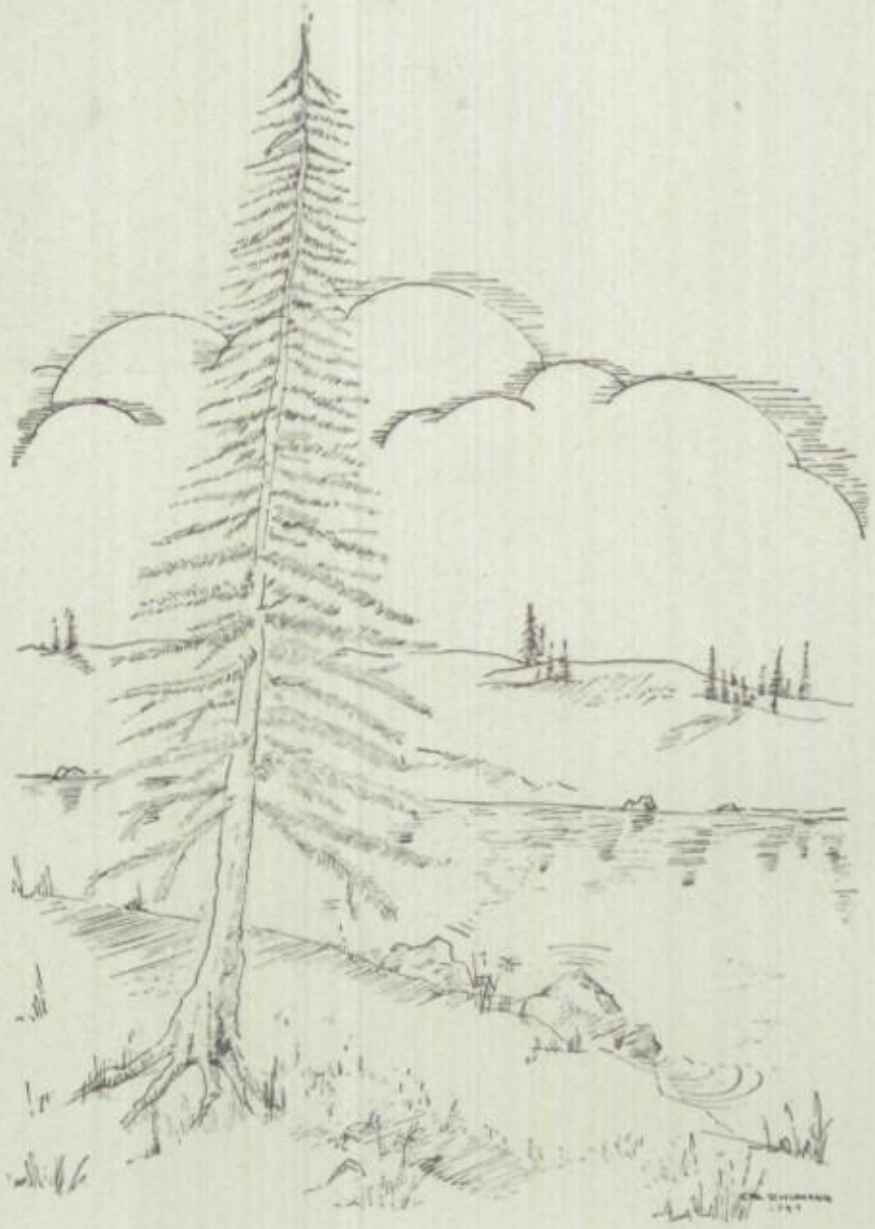
Curt and Tootsie, you don't have to try,
To be best looking gal and guy.

Jeanne and Ed have overstressed
The fact that they are our best dressed.

Don and Patty are thrown off their feet,
Showing the skill of a brawny athlete.

Better stop eating, Jinny and John,
Or soon that big book will be all gone.

Taking Firm Root



Classroom activities stressed the primary objective of school life, which is the extending of shallow roots until they form a firm foundation of knowledge.

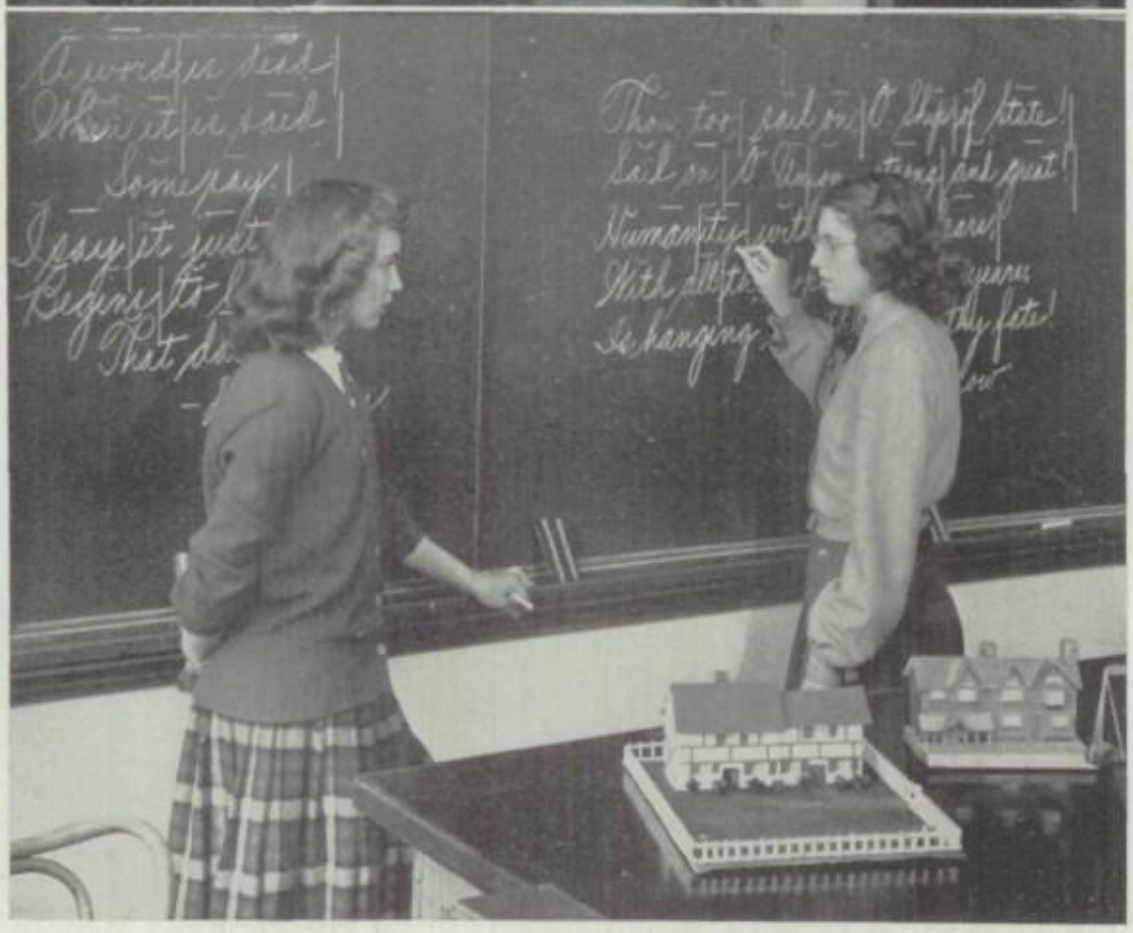
From the Basic Root of English



ENGLISH

With the deafening clash of swords our brave and trusty seniors killed the villian Macbeth again this year. Shakespeare's tragedy was only one of the English classics studied and enjoyed by us. In the poetical vein a well-selected section of the works of masters of the language gave us a deeper appreciation of English in the pure form.

"Oh woe, oh utter woe"—this mournful wail resounds through our halls every semester. Never fear, this is just the eternal chant of our 120C students trying to find material for their research themes. 120C is an intensive course in English fundamentals and a valuable preparation for college English.

With Elaine grieving over Sir Lancelot and the tenth grade grieving the semester tests on "The Idylls e King" and "The Merchant of Venice," juniors struggled on to the bitter end. "Oh, Death, where is thy sting?"

You can almost see the gleam in their eyes as seniors hear those famous words, "Lay on, Macduff!"

To find out whether a line was iambic pentameter or dactylic hexameter took an average amount of brains—and then some.

Stems Success In All Fields

Grammar took on an added importance this year, too. As we worked through the maze of gerunds, participles, and infinitives, we left our classes more confident in our ability to speak the "King's English." With added emphasis on reading technique the eleventh grade set the pace for their own improvement of their reading speed. It was interesting to watch the classes tearing through page after page of ponderous printed material with the speed of lightning!

Public speaking — ah yes — the place where we laughed while we learned. "Let no self-conscious person enter these portals, or if by chance he does, let him be taught to laugh with us."

All in all the year was a successful one with a healthy crop of graduates prepared to meet the [illegible] with twelve firm years of Engli[illegible] hind them.

Everything from shooting rifles to deep sea diving was the subject of public speaking talks.

Willie wins again! Shakespeare's "Merchant of Venice" never failed to catch the student's eye with its interesting characters and plot.

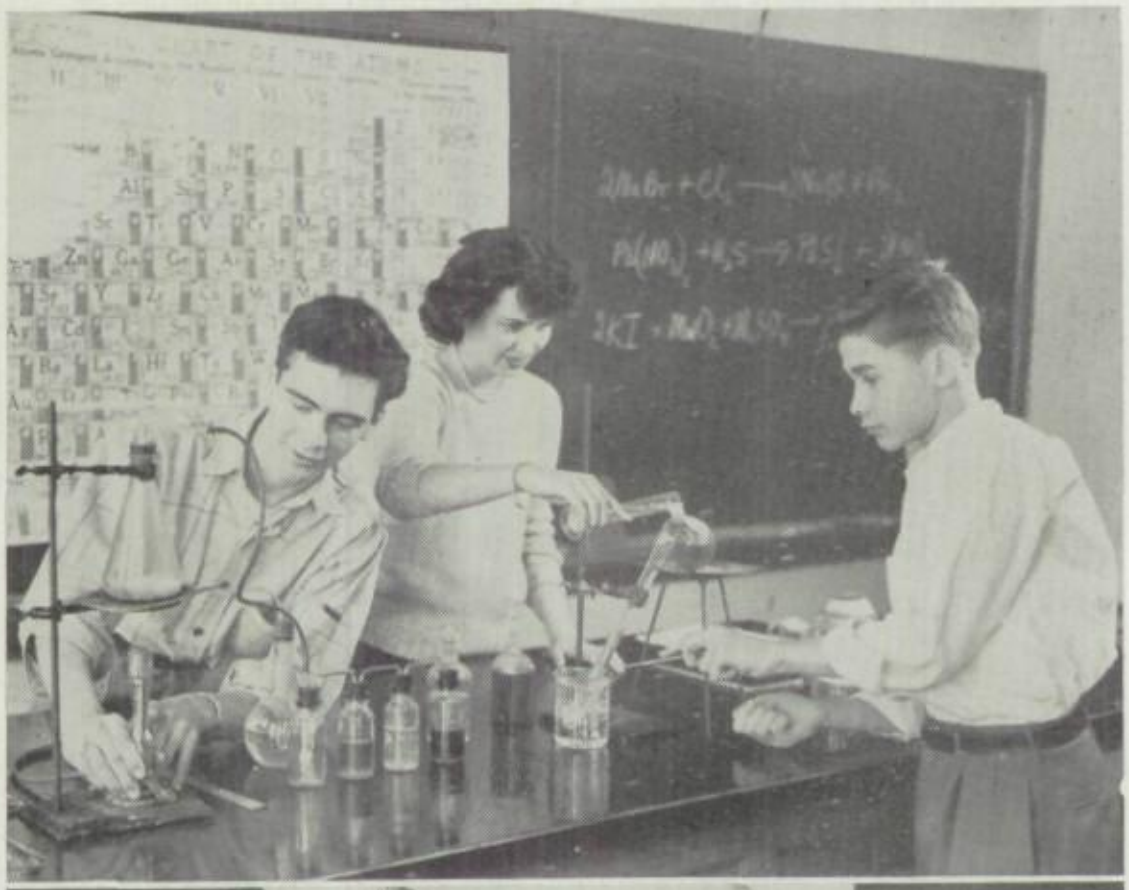
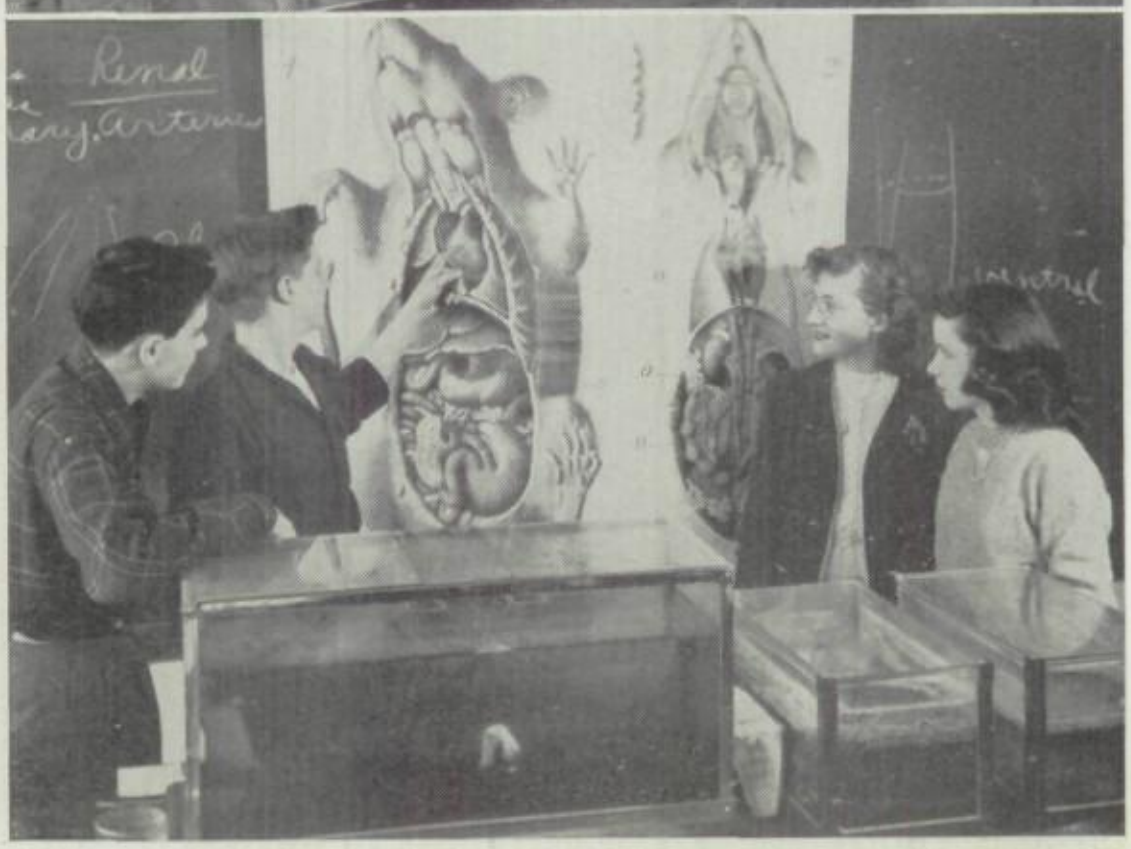
Atoms, Theorems Had New Meanin





SCIENCE

With formaldehyde and forceps the biology classes really started this year in exhuberant spirits. Maybe the star in those films we saw wasn't one of the brightest lights in Hollywood, but by the end of the year we had learned well the ways of a frog's heart.

Practical application of chemistry was the dominant theme. Interesting facts explaining the whys and wherefores of complicated objects in the steel, textile, and soap manufacturing industries, have made chemistry not all formulas and experiments but a course of study designed to prepare us better for college and our chosen professions.

Even as the atom has changed the bounderies of the world, the physicists of the future in our school laboratory studied the atom and came to realize its vital bearing on our life of tomorrow.

Chemistry students were responsible for those delightful (!??!) odors that permeated the third floor hall.

The biology classes learned what makes our furry friends tick.

For Us In Our Post-War World

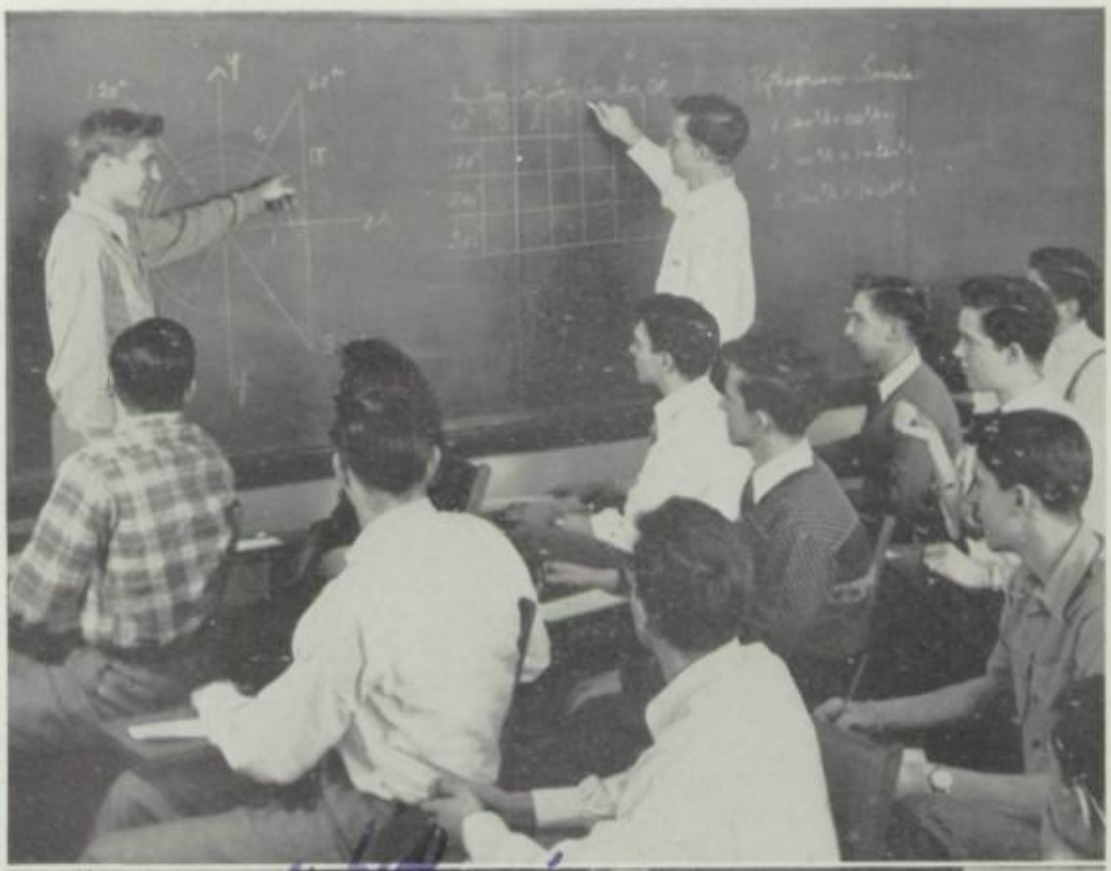
MATHEMATICS

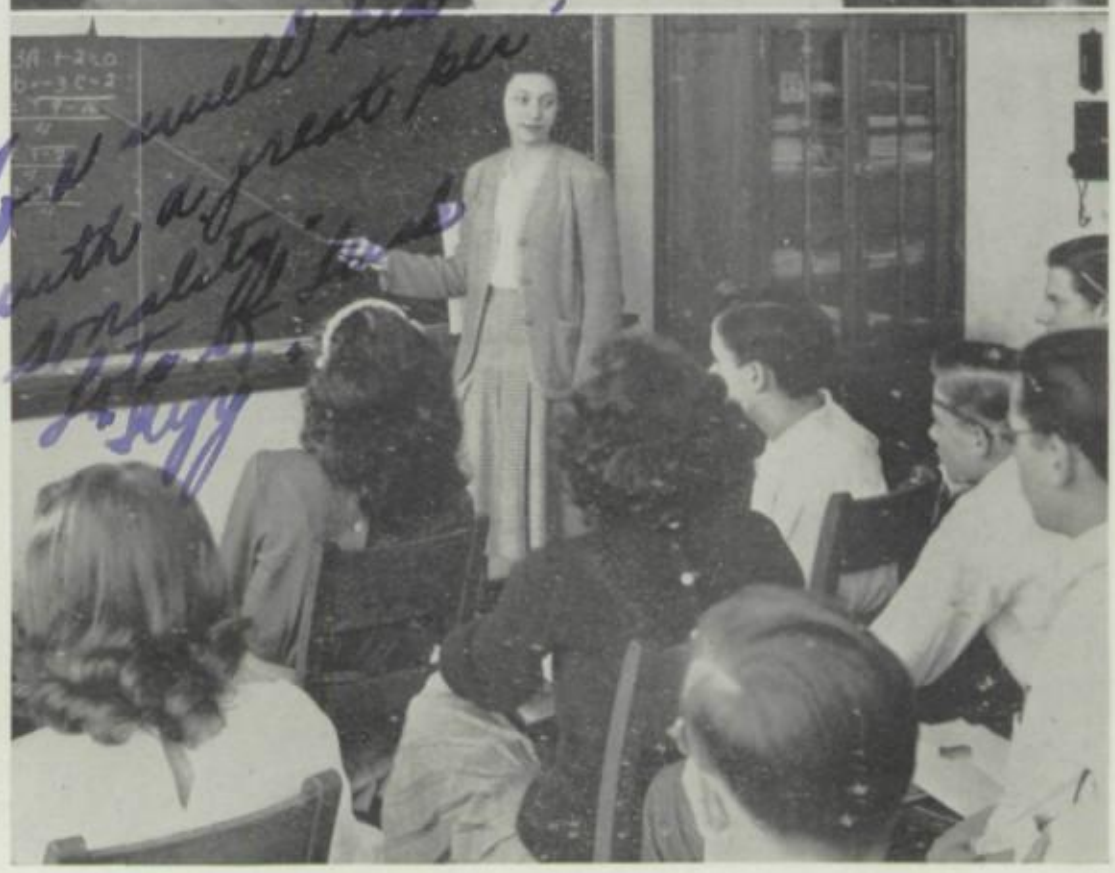
Algebra, plane geometry, trigonometry, solid geometry, general math . . . . . we had quite a selection to choose from when we decided to undertake work in this difficult field.

Even in our darkest moments with algebra, a faint glimmer of enlightenment always shone through. And toward the end of the year, you could have found us juggling those formulas with the practiced skill of a veteran.

Plane geometry also gave us a little trouble, but concentrated study at night pitting theorems against propositions and corollaries against plain rules trained our minds along mathematical lines.

Solid geometry and trig, the more advanced math, were undertaken by only the brave-of-heart and the sound-of-grade. Usually, however, by the end of the year everyone knew what he was doing and enjoyed it, too!





Trig appealed especially to the boys, for it is essential for those who plan to enter scientific fields.

No one was ever stumped by algebra—especially second year . . . (Now you tell us one!)

As We Prepared For Our Futures

There really is a resemblance between Gloria and the model made by one of her art classmates.

It looks good enough to eat, doesn't it? Cooking classes will tell you it was, too.

THE ARTS

"Say, have you seen those beautiful puppets in the art room yet?" If you haven't, you really ought to, for they are certainly clever! This year various interesting subjects were chosen by the students, and after we had seen each completed work, we realized more and more that talent abounds in Mt. Lebo's halls.

The school year was brightened considerably by the clear, true notes that our music department is famous for. Chorus, triple trio, orchestra, and band combined to give us many lively moments in music.

Home economics girls really did themselves proud this year. Serving a completely prepared lunch and also a tea for the P.T.A. afforded them practical as well as delightful experiences.

Mechanical drawing and shop worked hand in hand, and the wooden objects that were manufactured by our earnest boys served to highlight the old adage, "We learn to do by doing."

Mr. Tallman, Mrs. Sink, Mr. Reed.

Miss Klein, Mr. Schade, Mr. Doak.

We Kept Up With World Affairs

SOCIAL STUDIES

How did we ever remember all those dates in American history? We wondered, too. As we struggled through term papers and lives of famous men, we only dimly saw the significance behind them. As the year passed, however, busy and full, our purpose emerged into clearer focus, for we were studying the men and events that have made America truly great.

From the times of the Pharaohs to our own modern life, all was included in the broad span of history. Man has come a long way from the pyramid-building slave, and a more complete realization of this came as we studied his development from centuries ago.

Poverty and prosperity, problems of every day life were weighed and discussed in our economics and sociology classes.

Finally, as graduation loomed ahead, we began to realize how important the story of America, her people, and present status are to us, for America is our heritage.

Keeping up with Europe's boundary changes was a timely history project.

We took seriously the complex problems of world peace and national affairs.

We Gained Language Abilit

FOREIGN LANGUAGE

"Parlez-vous francais?" "M a i s oui," we hopefully answer and if we've studied those French grammar rules well, a beautiful friendship is quite likely to blossom. Sometimes we do not realize the extent to which foreign language studies broaden our horizons. Their aim is to make students world-minded and to help them become a success in their chosen field of work. This year we were fortunate in having the opportunity to converse and actually become acquainted with teen-agers from France, Greece, Porto Rico, and Switzerland. Students who were lucky enough to talk with these ambassadors of good will have had a unique experience.

The "Romanus Scit," as every Roman "knows," is the newspaper edited by Latin students, who demonstrate that Latin isn't always a struggle of verb against verb.

Through Latin, German, French and Spanish we gain a better understanding of the people of other lands and so, perhaps, we may be better able to make the world of tomorrow much finer than it is today.

Our little French girl, Lillian Vivier, helped us over the rough spots whenever we became baffled with "La Francaise."

Latin has come a long way. Here we find these modern Romans getting ready an edition of the Romanus Scit.

Miss Billingsley, Dr. Kendall, Mrs. Adamson.

As Well As Physical Skill

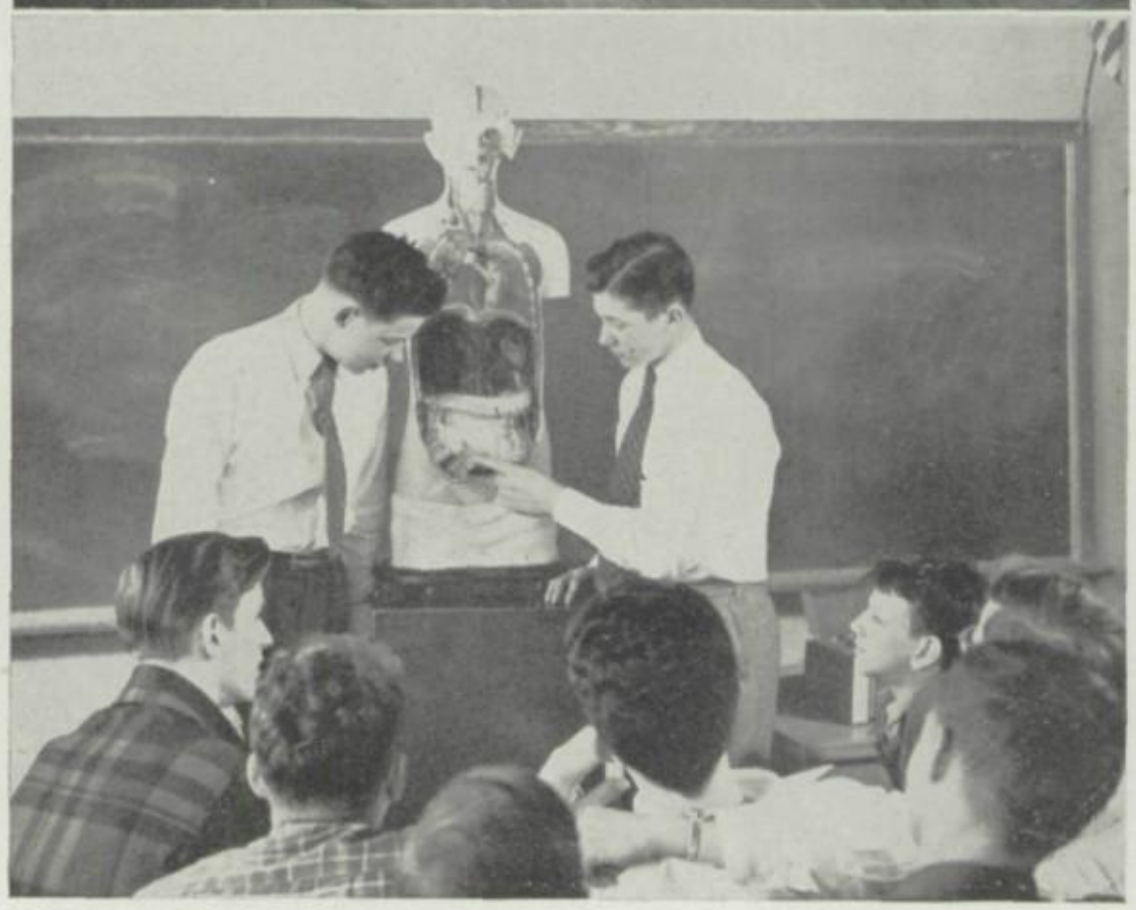
PHYSICAL EDUCATION

By bulging biceps and sheer brute strength our boys made the big gym rock! Wrestling and boxing, sure tests of skill and strength, were used every day by the boys to make themselves more physically fit. Of course, the usual exercises were performed with precision and exactness, and everyone really put his whole heart into those mighty basketball games in class or a boxing bout between the class strong men.

Although the girls participated in the less strenuous sports, the spirit was there, too. Who could ever forget the basketball tournaments in class, with one's honor and two or three points at stake?

As the games and exercises in gym were making our bodies stronger, we were learning the value of the proper foods and how the combination of these and of proper rest enables us to give our all in those gym games. By the end of the year we had learned through gym and health the rules of clean living and fair play.

"Miss B" helped the girls perfect their basketball technique. You should see them now!



Health classes become well acquainted with the inner workings of "Oscar."

Miss Grove, Miss McLaughlin, Miss Whinnie, Mr. Burrows.

Business Training Proved Practical

a s d f ; l k j ;—to the struggling young typist this phrase represents one of the world's most intricate devices. The simple typewriter is approached each semester by us poor, unsuspecting students, and with malice in its inky black heart it really gives us a rough time. But after we gained control of our fingers, which never seemed quite so-o-o clumsy, the paragraphs and letters and even those ten-minute timed tests held no hidden terrors for us!

To the new shorthand student those mystic little symbols might as well be Egyptian hieroglyphics. But after bravely groping through the first month or two, everything began to make sense and that feeling of being lost almost disappeared. By the time we could take dictation at 80 words a minute, we felt we had mastered a difficult art.

Bookkeeping and office practice are courses for those who wish to be prepared for the business world. The results of the commercial courses are really two-fold, for, aside from their practical values, the skills that are gained will be excellent tools for whatever work we take up.

These well-trained girls would be an addition to any office.

A commercial student sees from the huge office ledger just what a bookkeeper's job is.

Studies Never Had Us Out On A Limb

"The Boor" (Carl Aichele) describes the beauties of his calves to an unresponsive Lillian, much to the amusement of the public speaking class.

No, they're not playing in the sand. They are in the process of making a machine part from a wooden pattern to an aluminum casting. Understand?

Chorus classes not only made enjoyable listening but were fun to be in, too.

El senor shows Spanish souvenirs to las senoritas.

That's a real radio the boys made in physics class. Although mounted on board to show the parts, it really works.

Miss Moore's inner sanctum was filled with "industrious" students—especially when second floor went first to lunch.

Mounties Finished Undefeated . . .

FOOTBALL

For the second straight year Coach Johnny Beckert has led the Blue Devils to an undefeated season. One of the best records of Mt. Lebanon's history was turned in by the '46 squad, as they won seven and tied two, running the string of undefeated games on Mt. Lebo's record to twenty, the longest in W.P.I.A.L. Commenting on the '46 squad, Coach Beckert said, "This year's team was quite a surprise. We didn't expect to be spectacular—maybe that helped. Remember, these kids had the pressure on all season because of the undefeated streak. Speed and spirit were the key notes of the squad and easily made up for the lack of size and experience."

The season got under way with the Mounties taking an easy one from Langley. Carrick proved tough, but the Mounties sneaked past 13-6, as Backinger thwarted a last minute Carrick pass on the Mt. Lebanon 5 yard line. The Blue Devils breezed past Penn, Kiski, and Wilkinsburg.

Then came that never-to-be-forgotten Har-

De Giovanni rips through Kiski line. Helland narrowly misses a touchdown.

Ways and Means worked overtime to feed the hungry mob.

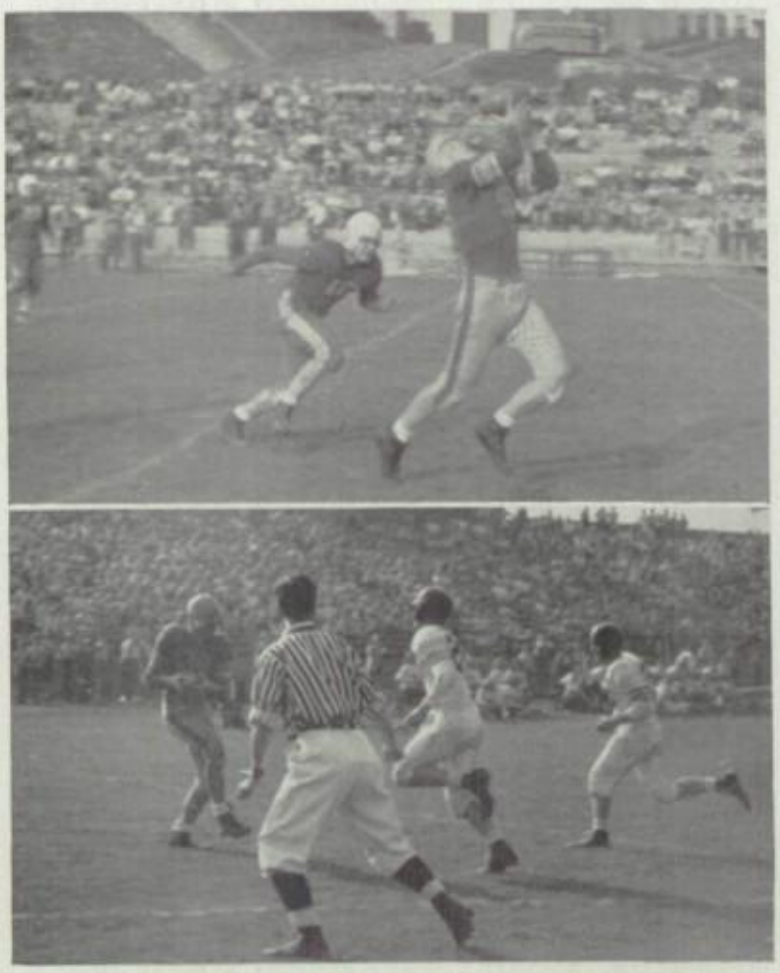
. . . For Second Straight Season

Brack game. Both scores were made within a minute and a half of the beginning and end of the game. Mt. Lebo took the opening kick-off and marched to the Tigers' one yard line. De Giovanni scored and converted with a place kick, sending the Mounties into the lead 7-0, where they stayed until the final minutes of the game. Har-Brack finally scored as Modzeluski went all the way from the Mt. Lebo 30 and a minute later added the tying point. A desperate passing attack took the Mounties to the Har-Brack 3 yard line, but the gun went off, eliminating Mt. Lebanon from the W.P.I.A.L. race for the second straight year, with a 7-7 tie.



Barry tries hard for a pass in the Langley game. Albert scores against Kiski on a pass from Cox.

The Mounties next battled out their second tie of the year as they fought the Munhall Indians down to the wire in a 0-0 stalemate. Albert stopped a last minute pass in the Blue and Gold end zone.

The next week the Mounties traveled to Butler for another close one. It was reliable Backinger who saved the day for the Blue Devils as he blocked a Butler punt, recovered the ball, and scored the winning T.D. The Mounties closed the season by shutting out Washington High 19-0.

The crack line that allowed the opposition only 26 points throughout the season was one of the best Mt. Lebanon has ever displayed. The center post was filled by Durkin. Although light, "Durk's" offensive and defensive play rated him honorable mention on the W.P.I.A.L. team. Alternating at center was Lurty, a hard-playing junior. The guards were also light but very reliable. Backinger, voted most valuable man by his teammates, saved the Mounties from a defeat or a tie several times during the season by his stellar defensive play. Vogel showed his talents especially well in the Kiski game, when he blocked two punts, one for a two point safety.

In the tackle spots we find Jones and Hilf. They weighed in at 175 and 178 respectively and used their weight very effectively in breaking up enemy plays. Our pass-snag-

Captain Cox shows that fine passing form that contributed greatly to the undefeated season - Cheerleaders Boyd, Gaw, Scheblein, Emery, Harrington, Friday, Crawford, Hess took time out to catch their breath and smile for the photographer - These happy faces indicate Mt. Lebo had the upper hand - Tommy Tucker (right) dropped in to see the game and stayed to lead our band.

ging ends were represented by Ott and Augsburger. Ott, though only a junior, was a vital part in our passing offense. "Big Pete," who tipped the scale at 193, was speedy for his size and was an important cog in the Mountie machine.

Fullback Albert led the backfield in scoring. "Jumpin'" Bob was a triple threat in running, since he could go around, through, or over the opposition. The halfbacks were well balanced by the deceptive running of Helland and the power of De Giovanni. Another halfback who saw much action was Cobbey, who was a standout on the defensive by blocking enemy touchdowns with his jolting tackles. The team was rounded out by Captain Cox at quarterback. His stellar left arm stood out during the year as he flipped those passes, and his signal calling was a vital asset to the undefeated season.

Aided by the new stands and score board, the team really looked professional, and it will certainly go on record as one of the finest teams to represent Mt. Lebanon on the gridiron.

Local Cagers Again Brough

BASKETBALL

Coming through in fine style, the Mountie basketeers copped their sectional title for the second consecutive time. With Dormont taking the place of our arch rival, Brentwood, the Blue Devils were hard pressed all the way. Coach "Speed" Clark, after juggling his line-up during the first part of the season, finally hit a combination that really clicked. Using both of his "lanks," Thomas and Augsburger, as the basis of his five, Coach Clark filled out the team with Schober and juniors Ott and McCune. These regulars, spelled by the reserve strength of Cox, Schrecongost, Sunderland, and McCombs, paced the team throughout the schedule.

The cagers opened their season with a ten point win over Brentwood and then experienced intermittent success until they came pounding down the home stretch. Following the Brentwood game, the boys dropped one to Charleroi and then beat Clark. In other pre-season contests the Mounties dropped games to Wilkinsburg, Brentwood, and Beaver Falls.

A victory was recorded in the first Section VII game with Crafton. This was followed up with wins against Carnegie, Burgettstown, and Stowe. However, in their next game at McKees Rocks the squad got off to a bad start and went down to defeat. After this setback, triumphs were racked up against Bellevue and Uniontown in exhibitions and against Canonsburg in league play. The next game proved to be the turning point of the season as Dormont pushed our boys around and came off with a nine point victory. But, bouncing back hard, Coach Clark's proteges ran roughshod in the second half of the season. They counted more than fifty points in every remaining sectional clash and concluded with a smashing 54-32 triumph over Dormont.

In their first play-off game the Blue Devils were again pitted against Wilkinsburg. The team was confident of victory this time, however, and it looked as though they might come through, when they held a 16-15 lead at half-time. But the Holy City passers became red hot in the second half, and their race-horse style of play was a little too much for the locals. The Tigers displayed a fine brand of ball that carried them along nicely in the following play-off struggles.

The "B" squad, ably directed by Coach Tallman, showed the makings of some very fine varsity material as they raced through their schedule with 19 wins and only three defeats.

Many Laurels Won By Blue Devils

Ed Smith takes Kraemer in the mile.

Kountz, as usual, breaks the tape.

TRACK 1946

The 1946 edition of Coach Mollenauer's Mountie track team, although failing to cop the elusive W.P.I.A.L. crown, gave a sterling performance throughout the season. Most of the returning lettermen of the previous year's squad performed above expectations, and Coach Mollenauer again proved himself one of the leading track coaches in Western Pennsylvania by developing a full crop of new stars.

Indoor track was returned to the schedule for the first time since the war, with the Blue Devils running away with the lead in the Tri-State Coaches Meet held at the Pitt Track House. This was the only indoor meet and the team soon began its outdoor contests. After winning several dual and triangular meets, the Mounties moved to Washington to capture the W.P.I.A.L. Relays' crown for the fifth time, by equalling last year's total of 41 points. The team again showed its superiority by winning their fifth consecutive Washington Invitational Meet the following week. They kept rolling in high gear at the County Independent Districts Meet at Wilkinsburg, as the field team showed surprising strength by adding 15 points to the Mountie column. The following week at Connellsville the team suffered its toughest luck of the season and had to be contented with the runner-up post behind a fast New Castle squad. Nothing seemed to go right, as only two local boys qualified for the state meet at State College, John Kountz in the 220 and 440, and Dick Plummer in the half mile.

Many excellent performances were turned in by the boys in all events. Leading the sprinters were Kountz, Albert, Donnelly, Doubleday, and Huhn. In the 440 were Kountz, A. Reynolds, Don Reynolds, Bell, Huhn, and Sunderland. The outstanding half-milers included Plummer, Fuller, and Beck; while such endurance men as Kraemer, E. Smith, Timothy, and Alexander were found in the mile. Many good hurdlers were to be found, led by J. Allen and Tressel. In the field events Lorentz, Adams, Jones, and Augsburger were the leading weight men. Barry showed great promise in the broad jump, along with pole vaulters J. Allen, Helland, and Albo and high jumpers Schuette, A. Reynolds, Sittler, and Steele.

Probably one of the two or three best records ever achieved by a Mountie sprinter was turned in by John Kountz. "Golden Legs" broke his string of bad luck while he was also breaking many records. He lowered the stadium mark in both the 220 and 440 yard dashes and pushed down the figures in the Washington Invitational quarter-mile. His best performance, however, was given at State College, in the state meet, where he captured both the 220 and 440 crowns. John's 440 time of 49.9 seconds, though not record breaking, was remarkable considering the condition of the rain drenched track and was good enough to rate him as the second speediest quarter-miler in the nation.

Brilliant individual performances were combined to make an outstanding team.

Harriers Took W.P.I.A.L. Crown

CROSS COUNTRY

As the saying goes, "All good things must come to an end," and so they did for the Mountie Harriers. After winning 46 consecutive meets, they went down to defeat at the state meet by one point. The jinx again caught up with Richy "Duck" Plummer, as he came down with a cold for the second straight year.

But the team never gave up, as can be evidenced by the fight they made at State College despite their captain's handicap. Led by Plummer, Dave Duerr, "Gus" Hibbard, and "Brooms" Wilson, last year's manager and this year's surprise, the squad twice defeated Aliquippa before losing at State. These four boys along with Dick Reynolds, Ed Smith, Perry Allen, and Vince Albo carried the brunt of the work for the W.P.I.A.L. champions.

Intramurals, Tennis Brought Out Stars

INTRAMURALS

With boxing being discontinued this year because of P.I.A.A. rules, a record number of thirty boys signed up for the wrestling tournaments and out of these, five were crowned champions.

Most outstanding of the five champs were Richard McQuillen, successfully defending his title of last year, and Arthur "Buzz" DeGiovanni, a light heavyweight terror.

On the hardwood it was the highly talented 11A 9's sweeping the school championship from the twelfth grade finalists, 12A 12, 19 to 16. The 9's barely squeaked past the 11A 11's for the junior championship, 8-7, but went on to trim the tenth grade entry, 10A 5-6, 20-16, prior to the championship tilt.

TENNIS 1946

Tennis moved back into the sportslight last year after a three year absence because of the war. The lay-off had no effect on the quality of Mt. Lebo's teams, however, as the squad, coached again by Victor Doak, captured the section 5 title, losing only two out of their eleven scheduled games.

The Mounties were eliminated in the W.P.I.A.L. quarter finals by Edgewood in a close match, 3-2. Mark Borland, however, won himself a place on the W.P.I.A.L. singles team, competing in the P.I.A.A. finals at Penn State.

Smith, Harrison, DeJohn, Borland, Coach Doak, Kenney, Johnson, Long, Timberlake.

RIFLE

This year the rifle squad added to Mt. Lebanon's glory by giving their best showing in several seasons. They placed second to Oakmont in the W.P.I.A.L. finals, beating out highly touted Munhall. The Blue Devils started slowly and only began to show their true form near the tail-end of the season. After reaching low ebb in the Oakmont dual meet with 483, they came tearing back with wins over Aspinwall and Coraopolis and threw a real scare into Oakmont by firing a 493.

HOCKEY

Mt. Lebanon ended its second season of interscholastic hockey with a creditable record of one win and one loss. As in last year's schedule, both games were played with Kiski Prep at Duquesne Gardens.

In the first game the Mounties were lacking in teamwork and experience and were easy meat for the Kiski veterans, captained by Pete Alexander, a speedy center. The Kiski icers countered three times before Captain Arthur "Buzz" DeGiovanni added Mt. Lebo's only goal.

It was a decidedly improved squad that met Kiski in that second battle. The Mountie puck-chasers had to overcome a one point deficit but did so very nicely, as De Giovanni played a fine game, scoring three goals for the "hat trick". Jack Powell neatly added the other two tallies to round out a 5-2 score.

Because of the short skating season, only three intramural hockey games could be played, but the competition was keen and the games revealed many future rink stars.

GOLF 1946

Led by Captain Tisdale and "most valuable golfer" Kunkle, the Blue Devils kept on plugging on the links last spring. With the exception of an always tough Baldwin five, the Mounties held their own in their section, splitting matches with their three other adversaries. The team enjoyed its best day against Bethel, when everyone was hot and the locals won 12-3.

BASEBALL 1946

Displaying two of the finest hurlers ever to come out of Mt. Lebo in "Frenchy" Wardwell and "Boom Boom" Beck, Coach Clark's baseball squad enjoyed a very successful season. The Mountie nine took Section 1 honors for the fourth straight year by licking Crafton in a play-off game 3-2. The team showed real merit in the W.P.I.A.L. eliminations, beating both Avalon and Trinity before losing a heartbreaker, 9-8, to Aliquippa in the semi-finals.

G.A.A. Means Growing Athletic Ability

GIRLS' ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

The Girls' Athletic Association has always been one of the most popular groups in Mt. Lebanon High. This year was definitely no exception. The tenth graders constituted a large part of the membership and showed a lot of determination and skill. They made the seniors watch their step! The season got off to a fine start with a couples' tennis tournament. The girls who really swatted those balls and took the honors were Betty Hatch and Joanne Gillen, Carol Davis and Sylvia Lopez, and Joan Arentzen and Joan Thorsteinson; representing twelfth, eleventh, and tenth grades respectively. Then, for the first time, horseshoes was offered in the array of sports for senior girls. A surprising number of boys also turned out to watch these amateur girls "pitch the shoes." Our tiny Pearl Ellis came out on top. Nice going!

Deck tennis next had the limelight. Fleet's Flyers, captained by Babs Lightfoot, trounced all other contenders. No one else even had a chance.

Then the gym was jammed with girls clamoring and shouting! It was basketball, the all-time favorite sport. There were so many signed up that ten lucky seniors were chosen to help captain the teams. These girls had a swell time in their short stay of authority, as did everyone else who participated in this sport.

How would you like to have a 204 score in bowling? Well, that's just what Nancy Llewellyn scored in the open tournament. That's a record for some of the fellows to better, if they can! The rest of us had a good time trying, anyway.

If you happened to peak into the gym around this time, you might have seen Pat Crawford, Nancy Ziegler, or Barb Gaw practicing those tricky shots which seem to be an accident when we manage one. These senior all-star forwards along with their guards, Pat Harrington, Anne Adams, Helen Warnick, Dotty Wenger, and Patt Kerschbaumer, were a little worried over the prospect of some of the junior pros, and justly so because this year's juniors were really good. And, as usual, there was the tenth grade boast to upset everything. Maybe they will some year. Remember those exhibition games? Then came along dozens of stoved fingers. Why? Volleyball, of course. But in spite of their "injuries", the girls supported this sport with their usual enthusiasm.

With Easter flowers and spring fever came the outdoor sport, mushball. The girls proved they could swing a bat and hit the ball, too! And don't forget, the badminton season was also on. No, it wasn't Robin Hood you saw next, just a senior girl practicing her archery for the tournament. The boys had discus throwing at the same time, which contributed to the general chaos of "things" flying overhead in the upper field. Cupid had out his bow and arrow, too.

As a grand end to the year G.A.A. council planned a picnic for all its members. That meant food, so naturally everyone went and had a swell time. A Play Day with about ten other schools was next in line. Ten of the most talented members of G.A.A. were chosen to represent our school in this Play Day. Who knows? Perhaps we have a future athletic star in our midst.

To the girls on the G.A.A. council we owe a very successful season. Our thanks go also to Miss Billingsley and Miss Prichard, both willing to help in scheduling, planning, and officiating at all these activities. They did a fine job! So after a wonderful season G.A.A. says, "So long until next year!"

Reynolds, Albert, Wilson, Albo.

Executive Board Officers: Harrington, Albert, Cox, Friday, Hibbard.

STUDENT COURT

Have you seen someone turn pale when his homeroom teacher handed him a little yellow slip? Perhaps you've noticed that group of culprits with worried expressions, waiting nervously outside room 5 every Tuesday afternoon. These people have received summonses to Student Court, where all cases of discipline are handled. If you were to look in on one of the court's weekly sessions, you would see how fairly the student is treated and how willing he is to accept the court's decision. Selected by the executive board, the judges realize what a serious undertaking they have to perform, and they are respected by the offenders for the manner in which they do their task.

EXECUTIVE BOARD

"The floor is open for discussion."
"Bob, the people in my homeroom asked if we could have music in the cafeteria."

It was after a simple discussion like this that we got a juke box at lunch-time. This is one of the smaller accomplishments of the Executive Board, a group of students who carry out self-government at Mt. Lebanon High. This year the thirty-second board in the history of the school was installed. Elected entirely by popular vote, the board is composed of three officers, the president of each home room, and an additional representative from each senior home room to give seniors a majority. The board governs the functions of thirty-five committees and squads, one of the most noted of which is the Ways and Means, that enthusiastic bunch that are always willing to sell a candy bar to anyone. It also sponsors the intramural wrestling tournaments and the all-important Senior Prom.

The problems and suggestions of every student, down to the most insignificant sophomore, are discussed at Board meetings held every Wednesday morning during activities period.

The Board has begun many new and commendable projects at Mt. Lebo. The Honor Award Committee, working in connection with the music department, obtained an equal point system for the band, orchestra, and chorus members. This year something new was added, a Junior-Senior Prom. It met with the approval of all the students, especially the Juniors, and will probably become a custom in future years. The present seating arrangement in the cafeteria was a brain child of the Board. In the latter part of the semester it initiated an intensive honesty campaign, which became one more of the important milestones in the history of our Executive Board.

TEN LITTLE INDIANS

No red-skins ever had as much fun at one pow-wow as the sixteen braves of "Ten Little Indians" in five weeks of practice and three performances of the first Activities Play. The bear rug, a prop—not a trophy, took many an unsuspecting thespian for a trip (fall, that is), and as Bob Alderdice said, when he extracted himself from its mouth for about the third time, "I put my foot in it that time." Friday, November 15, we burned our scripts in the campfire, folded our tepees, and silently stole away.

Members of the cast were: Cal Schumann (Rogers), Beth Clowes and Eleanor Davis (Mrs. Rogers), Jack Timberlake (Fred Narracott), Dolores Findley and Martha McVay (Vera Claythorne), David Riehl (Philip Lombard), Sam Robinson (Anthony Marston), George Avery (William Blore), Nelson Runger (General MacKenzie), Carol Gallagher and Mina Belle Packer (Emily Brent), Robert Alderdice (Sir Lawrence Wargrove), and Robert Sisler (Dr. Armstrong), The faculty director was Mr. Nelson Mills; the student directors were Pat Specht and Sally Funk.

One of them is guilty.

ARSENIC AND OLD LACE

It was fun learning to walk and talk like another person, but at the beginning of play practice everyone felt a little green at this new business of acting. All the cast studied and practiced hard, but rehearsals weren't all work. Funny things happened often, such as Moose Arther teaching himself to blow the bugle. It wasn't hard for him until the night he got his gum mixed up in it.

The cast included: Beth Clowes and Kitty Calpass (Abby), Richard Arther (Teddy), David Weatherwax (Dr. Harper), Jere Helland (Officer Brophy), Robert Kunkle (Officer Klein), Sally McKinley and Pat Specht (Martha), Dolores Findley and Sally Funk (Elaine), Carl Aichele (Mortimer), Wayne Komara (Mr. Gibbs), Cal Schumann (Jonathan), Fritz Myers (Dr. Einstein), David Smith (Officer O'Hara), Allan Bierman (Mr. Witherspoon), and Steve Mosites (Corpses), Mr. Nelson Mills was faculty director; Joanne Gilbert and Lavisa Blazier were student directors.

You'd be scared, too!

There's little hope for Sally.

Those Receiving Honors Found

ACTIVITIES KEYS

If you received the coveted Activities Key this year, you've probably met many a deadline for the Lantern or sold hot dogs in the rain. Maybe you were the mysterious hand that grabbed attendance cards or a solemn-faced court judge. But no matter what you did to earn your ninety activities points, you deserve a lot of credit for partaking in school activities. Planning dances and teas and carrying those plans through is not all fun and play but a lot of good honest work. Many responsibilities are placed on those who take an active part in school functions and everyone, from board-washer to executive board president, must take his share of these responsibilities. So, activities, while adding zest and life to school days, also develop character and make leaders.

Virginia Richard and Dick Arther were the only two seniors to receive guards a semester before graduation.

Those few persons with enough energy and ambition to earn two hundred points received, in addition, the activities guard, which signifies exceptional versatility and a high grade standard and is the highest activities award that can be acquired.

Even if you didn't earn a key this year, chances are you had your share of dishing out pills in the medical office or punching milk cards. If your special talent was in writing, you served on the Log, Lantern, or Mounty. And even if you didn't do anything but yell at a football or basketball game, you did your share in sending the Blue and Gold to victory. Every student and teacher had a part in making this year's activities program a success. The students acted in plays, served on committees and squads, and had their fun in Y-Teens and Hi-Y.

Now that the days of the senior teas and plays are over and the final curtain has fallen on your high school life, the places you filled so admirably in activities must be taken by underclassmen. May they do as well as you have!

That Hard Work Bears Fruit

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

Most desired and most desirable of honors is to wear the blue and gold of the National Honor Society, an organization which is made up of top ranking students chosen from high schools all over the United States. Members are chosen on the basis of character, service, leadership, and scholarship. Five per cent of a class may be elected in 11-A, five per cent in 12-B, and five per cent in 12-A, making a total of fifteen per cent of any one class. This is the highest honor that a high school student may achieve.

Since, to be eligible for membership, a student must not only rank high scholastically and be active in extra-curricular activities but must also win the approval of teachers and classmates for character and personality, it may be seen that Mount Lebanon's best are to be found in the National Honor Society.

To meet the requirements for membership is a spur to the student to excel in his studies, to engage in various activities, and to learn to get along with his fellow students.

It is a proud and happy moment for any student when he learns that he has been elected to membership in the National Honor Society. The attainment of this goal is well worth any effort it may require.

QUILL AND SCROLL

An honor that prompts some of our budding journalists to follow a career of writing is to be elected to Quill and Scroll, international honorary society for high school journalists. To be eligible, a student must not only be in the upper third of his class scholastically but must also have done commendable work on the Lantern, Mounty, or Log. At a formal recognition ceremony near the end of the year, new members each receive a handsome pin to signify the honor they have won.

Sitting: Smith, Wallerstedt. Standing: Woeber, Coate, Allen, Horney, Coveney.

ORCHESTRA

Every room in the school is noted for some special activity, and room 12 is no exception —music being its specialty. Here the orchestra practices during the first period on Tuesdays and Thursdays, preparing for any and every occasion. From the start the members knew that a lot was expected of them and they never failed to come through, whether it was playing for the assemblies or presenting a formal concert. The orchestra did its part well between acts at the activities and senior class plays, in the spring musical, and in the performance of Handel's Messiah. The annual winter concert, which was renewed after a lapse of two years, was by far the most important appearance for this group. The violin solo by Jane Schwartz and the piano duets by Ruth LaBrenz and Jim May were highlights of this concert. To the twenty-nine members and to student director Weatherwax we say, "Thanks for a fine job!"

TRIPLE TRIO

The Triple Trio is one of the best known of our musical groups. Singing on devotional programs, at assemblies, concerts, and outside engagements keeps these harmonious nine on their toes. Perhaps they will be best remembered this year for their Valentine Medley in the formal concert. Selected every year on a competitive basis, these girls are the cream of the musical crop.

Made Beautiful Music Together

"Strike up the band!" That's exactly what Mr. Jarema did when he took over in September. This fine organization entertained us with spirited music and snappy new formations throughout the football season. Every week they pulled a new stunt out of their hats and never ceased to amaze us. Libby Culbertson and her seven majorettes were an attractive side dish, too. After football season and many hours of practice, the band participated in the February concert.

The Charlotte Harbor Stomp and the trumpet trio will long be remembered. Beside these activities the band also had a share in the spring musical. Our hats are off to the members, to student director Pollock, and to Mr. Jarema.

CHORUS

One hundred fifteen boys and girls under the direction of Miss Sneary presented a goodly portion of the music enjoyed so much in the concerts, musicales, and devotional programs at various times throughout the year. Opening the season with a performance of the deeply moving Messiah as a Christmas program got them off to a fine start. They followed with a concert in February, which received quite an ovation. Several chorus members were also found representing our school in the P.S.M.A. and the In-and-About Pittsburgh Music Festivals. After the concert, preparations for the annual spring musical were begun. With this as a finale the chorus rang down the curtain on another successful season.

Plenty of glitter and glamor was assembled for the grand finale of the Valentine Concert

We Found Fun

Y-TEENS AND HI-Y

"It's a girl-ask-boy dance, sponsored by the Y-Teens," were words with a familiar ring. Dances, covered-dish dinners, and picnics were some of this group's social activities; while adopting families, directing Red Cross drives, and purchasing a silver tea set for the school were a few of their charitable endeavors. Heading the three groups of Y-Teens—the Deltas, the Alphas, the Betas—were Miss Stephens, Miss Frobese, and Miss Grove.

The boys' counterpart to this organization is the Hi-Y. The Blue and Gold Chapters, sponsored by Mr. Whipkey and Mr. Mitchell, planned programs much the same as the girls'. At basketball games with other Hi-Y's, spirits ran especially high.

Both groups agreed that service really could be lots of fun, too.

And Hard Work

THE LANTERN

When a teacher, student, or alumnus wants to laugh, read the latest school news, or catch up on the most recent gossip, he immediately turns to the Lantern. Our newspaper staff has worked many long hours in an attempt to enlarge the monthly publication in size and standards. This was accomplished to a great extent by the co-operation of each pupil, who so patiently waited for each issue to roll off the presses.

Joan Osborne, who was a capable News Editor, Brenda McCauley, who copped Feature Editor, Dick Arther, who spread your sports news thick, Make-up Editor Allan Bierman, who racked his brains for headlines, and those numerous reporters had a lot of headaches but they had a wonderful time, too.

None of them will forget those mad attempts to meet the four o'clock deadline, the chattering typewriters, the bad puns, or the bull sessions on anything from Devilette to Debussy. They all thoroughly enjoyed relaying the news to you about what goes on at Mt. L.

MOUNTY

Although this was its first full year of publication, the "Mounty," school literary magazine, lost no time winning a good name for itself.

The night before publication would find the staff madly pouring over a table, picking up sheet after sheet of stories, poems, essays, mood sketches, and anecdotes to be stapled and piled.

In spite of the work the staff agreed that it was worth it when "Mounty Day" came along.

Our Cedar's Log Records the Year

LEBANON LOG

As grows the carefully nurtured cedar tree, tall and majestic from its small beginning, so has grown this yearbook from the little things which make up our school life. To snatch from passing time these glimpses of the ever-changing parade has been a year-long task to which the Log staff has given much time and effort.

Since we started way back last May to choose our theme, there has been a continuous stream of jobs tackled and done. You can't have forgotten those corny advertising skits and our persistent salesmen. But behind the scenes the staff worked hard developing the theme, taking and retaking pictures, making layouts, mounting, writing, rewriting, and keeping circulation records.

By a bit of pruning here and "Black Leaf 40" there, we have tried to keep our cedar clean and sweet. So if in these pages we have captured scenes to recall the memories of that 100-yard dash to lunch, those nerve wracking precis, football games, corridor wolves, classroom activities, and all events leading up to the last choked minute of graduation, then our task has been fulfilled.
